Associated Charities Notes.

The little boy who was operated on at the Infirmary on the 21st of this month will be sent home tomorrow.

The little girl who has had typhoid fever is able to sit up and was moved to her home Monday. One friend gave her a dress and winter under wear was sent by another. A missionary society of the Baptist church made a dress for her.

The following assistance was rendered during the past week to families in distress:

Provisions amounting to $4.50.
Coal $1.00.
Numerous donations of clothing, etc.

Groceries are being bought this month from Mr. Roy Kenner, who is a member of the Associated Charities, and coal from Mr. E. L. Foulks.

We moved into our new office in the County Court building last Tuesday.

The next meeting of the Association will be held here next Thursday night.

LILLIAN GILLOCK, Sec'y.

Wedded in Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 8.—Gatlin Mayberry, aged 19 years, until recently engaged in business at Hopkinsville, Ky., with his aunt and Miss Willa Hern, aged 18 years, also of Hopkinsville, eloped here today, followed by the girl's mother who demanded their arrest. In order to escape prosecution under the Mann White Slave Act, Mayberry married the girl late this afternoon, and he and the bride left the magistrate's court hand in hand.

Peculiar Bequests.

There is one actual case on record of a bequest of artificial teeth. But as it was so long ago the legal chroniclers think the decedent had in mind the sale of the teeth to the dentists of the time so that cash might be realized. Many cases are narrated of women bequeathing their hair to their heirs to be converted into money.

Purely Personal.

W. W. Redford was in the city Sunday on his way to Springfield, Tenn.

Mrs. D. W. Kitchen, after a lengthy visit to her daughter, M. S. Hugh Wood, at West Point, Ky., returned home Sunday night.

Dr. J. W. Harned returned from Louisville Saturday night.

Thomas H. Ennis, of Louisville, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ennis, and left Sunday night for Denver.

Miss Mattie Johnson, of Oklahoma, was here last week, the guest of Mrs. D. C. Cary.

Senator-elect H. G. Overstreet, of Owensboro, was in the city Saturday. He has many friends here who were glad to shake hands with him. Senator Overstreet is happy in having received more votes in Daviess county than any other candidate on the Democratic ticket, which swept the entire county.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Duke left this morning for California, for a visit to their son, Mr. C. R. Duke, and their daughter, Mrs. J. Norvil Schrader. They will spend the winter on the Pacific coast.

J. M. Clark, of Bowling Green, spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Clark.

S. H. Horner, Optician, with R. C. Hardwick, has resigned and this will be his last week here. On the first of January he will take charge of Mr. Hardwick's optical department at Owensboro.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, arrived here Saturday and left at once for Fairview to look over the improvements at the Davis Home.

Judge J. T. Hanbery went to Murray Sunday to begin the winter term of court at that place yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Baylor Hickman and Mr. Ormsby Hickman, of Louisville, came down Saturday to attend the Tandy-Moore nuptials. They will return to Louisville tomorrow.

LIVE WITHOUT FRESH WATER

Remarkable Colony of Birds and Reptiles on Absolutely Barren Island.

Recent investigations on the little-known and rarely visited Henderson or Elizabeth island have led to the discovery of a complete and curious little colony of zoological total abstainers. The island, which is uninhabited, is situated about 120 miles northeast of Pitcairn island—itsself sufficiently out of the way, but famous as the home of the descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty. There is no water on it, not even a swamp, and it is only six miles long; yet it harbors quite a menagerie—a kind of rat, a lizard, described as very abundant, and no fewer than four kinds of birds, all peculiar to the island. These are a fruit-pigeon, a lorikeet, or honey-eating parakeet, a little rail or crane, and a reed-warbler. The strange thing about the inmates of this curious little natural aviary of coral rock, surrounded by waves instead of wires, is that two of its inmates are birds, one especially associated with fresh water—the rail and the warbler. These, like the rest, must do without drinking, unless the dew can slake their thirst, or they have acquired toleration for sea-water as a beverage.

RICHES IN BURNED SEAWEED

Farmers Along the Coast of Norway Sell the Ashes for Commercial Purposes.

During the spring months there appears along the narrow coastal line of Jaederen, Norway, what seems to be continuous lines of bonfires, but is merely the burning of huge piles of seaweed by farmers who have riparian rights. Entire families assist in the work, the hours being from 12 to 14 per day.

The utilization of seaweed ashes for use in the glass industry dates back more than two centuries, but in 1748 a Scotchman came to the Danish shores and carried back the ashes to Scotland, where they have since been manufactured into iodine. As the price paid for the ashes in Denmark is about 1.34 cents a pound, and as a man with horse and wagon can haul up and burn about 13 cents' worth of ashes in each of 80 half-ton loads a day, his earnings during the year amount to considerable.

URGENT BUSINESS.

The Kansas City Star tells of a man who called at the Wellington postoffice the other day and asked for the postmaster. He was told by the clerk that the postmaster was not in.

"When will he be in?" was asked. The postmaster would be in within half an hour.

"Is there anything I can do for you?" the clerk asked. "No; I want to see the postmaster."

After a while the man came back and asked again for the postmaster. "He's not back yet," the clerk told him. "Is there anything I can do for you, or can I tell him something when he comes?"

"No, there ain't nuthin' you can do, and I wisht the postmaster was here. I want to see if there's any mail for me, and I'm gettin' in a hurry."

Henderson-West.

Saturday the County Clerk issued license for the marriage of Miss Ethel West and Mr. Victor Henderson. The parties are popular young people of the Fruit Hill neighborhood and were married last Sunday by Rev. T. T. Powell.

NEGROES RESIST ARREST

One Took Up Sleeping Quarters In I. C. Station.

Saturday night about 7:30 o'clock officer J. A. Barnett walked into the colored waiting room of the I. C. station and found that a negro man by the name of Gus Hight had quartered as he probably thought, in the waiting room. The officer told him to get out and go to his home, but the negro paid no attention, as he was sound asleep. Mr. Barnett woke him and the negro got up and stretched himself and sat down again. Again the officer told him to get up, which he did, and then struck Mr. Barnett with his fist. He received the blow on the right side of his face, but was not knocked down. The negro then ran, but Mr. Barnett did not overtake him. Afterwards he was arrested at his boarding house on South Water Street and locked up.

When officer W. E. Shanklin was on his way home Saturday night on East Seventh Street he overtook three negro women and a negro man. One of the women looked behind her and seeing the officer said, "Let's make room so Mr. Shanklin can pass." The negro man, whose name is Archie Myers, with an oath said he had as much right on the sidewalk as any body, and wouldn't give room. Mr. Shanklin told him not to get smart, when the negro again began using profane language. The officer then started to arrest the negro when he struck at him. Mr. Shanklin leveled his gun on him and told him to throw up his hands. He then arrested the negro and started to the sub-station in the L. & N. passenger station, and when near it the negro broke and ran. He was too fleet-footed for Mr. Shanklin and made his escape, but afterwards was arrested and locked up.

Moore-Tandy Wedding.

A number of social events have enlivened society during the last week in honor of Miss Mary Tandy, a bride of the week. Miss Agnes Flack entertained at breakfast Thursday with a towel shower. Mrs. Guy Starling gave a buffet breakfast Friday morning. Miss Frances Summers gave a picture show party Friday afternoon to 24 guests. The marriage of Miss Tandy to Mr. Milton Gant Moore will take place this evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tandy.

Attention Mothers.

There will be a meeting of the mothers of the city at the Virginia Street School this afternoon at 2 o'clock. A large attendance is desired and the ladies will have an opportunity of hearing an address by Mrs. Eugene Crutcher, of Nashville.

Kentuckian Killed.

John M. Wilkins, aged 40, a well known Bowling Green man, was killed in a railroad accident Friday morning in Empire, Panama. He leaves a widow. The body will be brought to Bowling Green. He was a relative of Mrs. H. L. McPherson, of this city.

Ellis E. Cox, cashier of the Cairo National Bank, and his nephew, J. W. Howe of the Terrell-Howe Co., were in the city yesterday. They have been visiting relatives at Gracey and were enroute home. They are both nephews of Messrs. Frank Cox and R. E. Cox and are prominent young business men of Cairo.

Mrs. H. M. Frankel will entertain at the Elks Club tomorrow afternoon in honor Mrs. Edward Kleeman.
